From:	Elad Salomons [selad@optiwater.com]
Sent:	9/17/2018 2:15:21 PM
To:	Tryby, Michael [/o=ExchangeLabs/ou=Exchange Administrative Group (FYDIBOHF23SPDLT)/cn=Recipients/cn=a54d16c2236842bbb89e7586944b40c4-Tryby, Michael]
CC:	Murray, Regan [/o=ExchangeLabs/ou=Exchange Administrative Group (FYDIBOHF23SPDLT)/cn=Recipients/cn=4b06d968152a4cefb83c9864ff5c89c6-Murray, Regan]
Subject:	[SPAM-Sender] Re: Request for your Kingston Presentation and Plugin Demo

Hi Michael,

No problem to share. In Kingston I gave a demo without a presentation. However, I did prepare a backup presentation (from the demo screenshots) in case I would not be able to use my computer or have an Internet connection. This presentation is already available via Slideshare:
https://www.slideshare.net/elad/open-source-epanet-project-epanet-plugins
The basic FireFlow plugin I showed is also available via GitHub:
https://github.com/eladsal/EPANET-Plugins
And you have the "marketplace" web site:
http://plugins.epanet.net/

What is missing is the other demo plugin I used which is not available online but I'm willing to let you use it. The reasons it's not online are: bad code with hard coded links and paths, some mockups functions with no real algorithm behind, non-public network used and private Google maps API used. I can put it on a shared folder but I think I might need to show you how to use it and you might need your own Google API key. If needed I will have time tomorrow afternoon (your morning) to have a quick chat on this. Let me know.

Finally, the plugin works on MTP4r2. I guess it would not work on the dev version using Python 3 and Qt5.

Regards,

Elad

Elad Salomons
Water Resources Engineer

Personal Phone / Ex. 6

On Mon, Sep 17, 2018 at 3:53 PM Tryby, Michael <Tryby.Michael@epa.gov> wrote:

Elad,

We have an EPANET training workshop coming up at US EPA here in Cincinnati Thursday and Friday this week. Regan would like us to make a presentation on the new UI work and suggested your presentation and demo from Kingston.

Would you be willing to share it with us? I would certainly explain to the audience that this is your work and credit you for it. Let me know what you think. Thanks!

Best,

Michael